New WFI Global, LLC Brings Extensive Experience to the Polyurethane Foam and Coating Markets

WFI Global, LLC, a new specialty chemical coatings and foam company, has been established by Terry Walker and Joseph (Jay) G. Fabick, Jr. in Madison, Wisconsin. Walker has 30 years of experience in the urethane foam and coatings industry and Fabick is president of Fabick, Inc., (www.fabick.com) a manufacturer of industrial sprayed-on coatings and the patent-holder for Poured-On® coatings.

WFI Global's initial product offering will be low-density polyurethane foam systems for the fenestration industry with other chemical coating products to follow. Injectable polyurethane foam in vinyl and fiberglass windows enhances thermal performance and energy efficiency, reduces condensation and differentiates products for window fabricators. The foam systems will be sold throughout the U.S. and western Canada by Industrial Sales Corporation of Westport, Connecticut (www.iscamerica.com), led by Jim Hornung. Art Goldman, who has 25 years of urethane application experience in the fenestration industry, is providing technical and marketing services for WFI Global.

WFI Global, LLC is a privately-held company. Additional information is available by contacting Terry Walker, president, at (608) 218-4040.
